LLOYD GEORGE HOTLY DENIES HE PREDICTED ENTENTE'S END

Premier Calls Story Sheer And Wicked Invention

OUTLOOK BETTER

France To Withhold Recognition Unless Satisfied

(Reuter's service)

Genoa, May 8.—Signor Schanzer is working hard in the role of peacemaker among the conflicting elements. The indications tonight are that his efforts are meeting with a measure of success. Anyhow, the situation is rather brighter than on Saturday, when it was practically hopeless.

The Russians, whose reply is expected on May 10, are showing a more conciliatory disposition, while there are signs that the Belgians are somewhat disconcerted at the turn of events politically as a result of their economic objection to the memorandum.

An interesting fact arising from the situation is the strengthening of the Anglo-Italian entente.

Mr. Lloyd George expressed indignation in very direct terms to a gathering of journalists here today with regard to the London accounts of his interview with M. Barthou. The British Premier explained that both parties had seen and approved each other's version of the interview and described the official French version as telegraphed to Paris as absolutely correct. He stigmatised and criticised the report as "a sheer and wicked invention and the raving of an insane person." He declared that the French themselves were indignant at the statements.

BARTHOU EXPLAINS

In response to a request to give his testimony regarding Saturday's conversation, over which so much controversy has arisen, M. Barthou has written to Mr. Lloyd George, saying: "You did not say that the Entente between Great Britain and France was at an end nor did you say that your advisers were pressing you to come to an understanding with Germany. You spoke to me of the difficulties through which the relations of our two countries were passing but you did not pronounce one word which could be interpreted as expressing an intention to break the friendship uniting them and I retain all my confidence in that essential union."

London, May 8.—Careful enquiries made in official quarters at Paris regarding France's position towards the present phase of the Genoa Conference tend to the conclusion that, whatever the Russian reply to the memorandum may be, France will not recognise the Soviets unless she is convinced of their bona fides regarding international engagements and unless they prove that their Government represents Russia. The French think that the Soviets' main objective at Genoa is a huge cash loan, to which France is very averse.

AGREED AGAINST LOAN

It is noteworthy in this connection that Reuter's Genoa correspondent states that Mr. Lloyd George, addressing journalists, emphasised that all the Allies were agreed against granting a large cash loan. He expressed the belief, however, that if the Soviet reply was substantially satisfactory, France would continue with us.

London, May 8.—The sensational report from Genoa that Mr. Lloyd George told M. Barthou that the Entente had ended has been emphatically contradicted.

Reuter's correspondent at Genoa says that he learned at Villa D'Albertis that although Mr. Lloyd George may have remarked on the danger to the Conference and the Entente if France persisted in her present attitude, he certainly did not say that the Conference was over or the Entente ended.

On the contrary Mr. Lloyd George sincerely hoped that this would not prove to be the case.

Replying to a question in the House of Commons today, Mr. Chamberlain said that there was no reason to suppose that the discussions at Genoa were likely to imperil Anglo-French relations. The British policy as regards the execution of the Treaty of Versailles was not changed.

Hongkong Hotel Co. Buys Ezra Holding In Shanghai Hotels For $2,500,000

Deal Puts Nine First Class Far Eastern Hostelries Under One Management And Assures New Bubbling Well Project

In one of the biggest property transfers of recent years in Shanghai the Hongkong Hotel Company Ltd. yesterday acquired control of the Shanghai Hotels Ltd. and all of its extensive subsidiary holdings from the executors of the estate of the late Mr. Edward I. Ezra. Thus the two great chains of hotel properties in the Far East are merged under British control.

The consideration involved in the transfer was Mex. 2,500,000 and of special importance to Shanghai is the announcement made by Mr. J. H. Taggart, Managing Director of the Hongkong Hotel Company, that the project for the erection of a great new hotel property in Shanghai is to be carried out.

This new hotel is to be built on property that was held by the Shanghai Hotels Ltd. on Bubbling Well Road opposite the race course and immediately east of the Horse Bazaar.

LIST OF PROPERTIES

The properties taken over by the Hongkong Hotel Company include the Astor House, the Palace Hotel and the Grand Kalee Hotel in Shanghai, and the Grand Hotel des Wagons-Lits in Peking. Besides these hotel properties, control of THE CHINA PRESS and THE EVENING STAR and of The China Motors, all of which were held by the Shanghai Hotels Ltd., passes to the Hongkong interests.

The immediate effect of the transfer is that it gives to the Hongkong Company control of virtually all the first class hostelries in the large centers of Hongkong and China, nine hotels in all.

Activities of the Hongkong Hotel Company hitherto have been confined to Hongkong and the district thereabouts. The company's properties there include the Hongkong Hotel, the Repulse Bay Hotel and the Peak Hotel at Hongkong and the Peninsula Hotel at Kowloon. In addition to these hotel properties the company operates three of the leading Hongkong garages and owns also the important department store Messrs. William Powells Ltd., and the Hongkong Steam Laundry.

MANAGEMENT NAMED

As a result of the merger of the two hotel companies, Mr. E. Burrows, who has been Managing Director of the Shanghai Hotels Ltd., and Mr. Taggart will become joint Managing Directors of the merged properties.

Mr. F. N. Matthews of Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews, has been invited to join the directorate of the merged companies.

Other property transfers recently concluded by the executors of the Ezra estate include the sale of the estate's Yangtszepoo property, involving a consideration of Tls. 450,000, and a sale of the estate's Sinza Road property, involving a consideration of Tls. 950,000.

Review Of Year Presented At Annual Meeting Of The China Association

Japan Income Tax, Washington Conference, Coinage And Other Economic And Political Matters Touched Upon; Tribute To Late Sir Everard Fraser

Matters of economic and political import affecting China during the past twelvemonth were reviewed yesterday at the annual meeting of the Shanghai Branch of the China Association. The meeting was held at the Shanghai Club and was attended by a large number of members.

Sir Edward Pearce presided, supported by Messrs. A. C. Clear, Duncan McNeill, C. G. S. Mackie, F. W. Potter, A. Brooke-Smith, O. M. Greeen, R. W. Robertson, P. W. Massey and N. S. Brown, of the Committee, and Mr. N. H. Langley Smith, secretary.

The chairman prefaced his annual address with a sincere tribute to the memory of the late Sir Everard Fraser. He said:

"Gentlemen, before commencing the business for which this meeting has been called, I should like to make special reference to the sad and untimely death of Sir Everard Fraser. His sound advice was given ungrudgingly whenever the Association had occasion to lay matters of particular moment before him, and his sagacity, clearness of vision of things Chinese, combined with a strong sense of justice, always rendered his opinion of the utmost value to us. He was untiring in his work on behalf of British interests and it was largely due to his great friendship and influence with Chang Chih-tung, the great Wuchang Viceroy, that the Boxer rebellion in 1900 did not extend to the Yangtsze Valley. I was personally in close touch with him throughout the Great War and realise, as we all do, the great work he did during those trying years. Gentlemen, I know I am echoing your sentiments when I say that one and all of us deeply sympathise with Lady Fraser and her family in their great bereavement."

Continuing, the chairman said: "Gentlemen, the report and accounts have been in your hands for a few weeks and, following the usual procedure, I propose to deal shortly with some of the matters which have engaged the attention of your committee during the twelve months ending March 31 last.

JAPAN INCOME TAX

"Japanese Income Tax. This question was raised by a member at the last annual general meeting, and in addition to what appears in the report of the results of your committee's investigations I have to mention that in a letter dated March 17, 1922, the late Consul-General referred the Association to a despatch which has been received from the Foreign Office and which was to the effect that, after full consideration, His Majesty's Government had formed the opinion that there was not sufficient reason for asking the Japanese Government to alter the existing law. The London Committee has, as is stated in the report, been requested to take up this question and I am sure they will do everything possible to effect a redress of the grievance.

"A review of Chinese political events during 1921 is very succinctly given in the report and leaves little for me to add. The steps taken by the Association in connection with the question of compensation for damage to British property caused by the lootings of Ichang and Wuchang last June are also very fully set forth. We have done all in our power to lay the matter forcibly before the proper authorities and can only regret that so far no compensation has been paid by the Chinese Government and that the responsible Tuchun, Wang Chan-yuen, of Hupeh province, has succeeded in escaping unpunished with his ill-gotten gains. Since the lootings Wu Pei-fu has appeared upon the scene in these regions of the Yangtsze Valley and during last August successfully defeated the Hunan and Szechuen solidery. Later, the Peking Government found itself in very serious financial difficulties, from which even today it does not seem to have recovered. In fact, we see, as Mr. J. O. P. Bland has very aptly described it, a triangular duel in China of the same grim old struggle for supremacy. In this case the three factions are being led by General Chang Tso-lin in the north, General Wu Pei-fu in the center, and Dr. Sun Yat-sen in the south.

THE WAR IN CHINA

"Within the past few days the victory of Wu Pei-fu outside Peking over the troops of Chang Tso-lin appears to leave the former master of the situation, while in the south the split between Dr. Sun and his former colleague, General Chen Chiungming, has for the moment scotched the much advertised punitive expedition of Canton against

CHINA LABOR CONDITIONS REPORTED TO CONFERENCE

Experts Urge Reforms To Improve Workers' Lot

WANT AGE LIMIT

Also Day Of Rest And Health And Safety Measures

"It is a joy when you have worked a long while to set up a machine at last to see it go," said Rev. A. M. Sherman at yesterday morning's session of the National Christian Conference.

After many hours spent on the technicalities of establishing a National Christian Council the delegates welcomed as a breath of fresh air the addresses of yesterday morning on the "Relation of the Church to Social and Economic problems" and Mr. Sherman's reference applied to the application of the best thinking of the newly formed council to one of China's most burning social problems, the modern industrial order.

Historically yesterday will be remembered by delegates to the Conference as the day on which the Constitution of the National Christian Council, which will doubtless function in China for many years to come, was accepted as a whole. The vote was taken in the middle of the day and there was much craning of heads when the 75 appointees to the new Council filed out of the great hall to proceed to a meeting of their own at which they are to elect 25 more members, thus bringing up the total membership to 100 so that the new council may be organised this week.

But as a matter of fact this action took a small part of the time yesterday in comparison with the two leading issues of the day—the "Relation of the Church to Modern Industry" and "New Plans for Christian Education in China."

The industrial question was opened most effectively by one of the leading Christian employers of China, Mr. C. C. Nieh, who announced himself as in full sympathy with the recommendations drawn up by the pre-conference industrial committee suggesting a minimum labor standard for China and the aiming toward the international labor standard of the League of Nations on the part of employers in China.

C. C. NIEH IS SPEAKER

Mr. Nieh said that there was no question but that the importance of working conditions of employees is the foundation of industrial efficiency, and he felt that there was particular value in consideration of industrial problems by all such groups as are able to look at this problem from the viewpoint of employer, employee and general public alike. Miss Agatha Harrison, national industrial secretary of the Y. W. C. A., and a member of the pre-conference industrial committee, spoke as follows:

"I am not going to take time discussing whether this group should or should not enter the field of the problems brought about by the coming to China of modern industry, for the fact that the whole of this morning and a sectional meeting one afternoon are given over to the matter in such a crowded program is a conclusive proof of the Church's concern.

"I hope you have had time to study the report of your committee on China's Economic and industrial problems. Mr. Nieh and I are going to speak this morning straight to the industrial section—the other parts will be dealt with in your sectional conference later. We are faced with a grave situation. Those of you who come from industrial centers realise its gravity, those who do not, can imagine it) and sooner or later will be brought into touch with it, for the modern factory system will have its effect on every phase of life—there is no one in China who will not be involved in some way. It is touching home life and agricultural life. What is the Church doing to help the industrial workers adjust themselves to the tremendous change that the modern industrial system brings?

CHILD LABOR BASIS

"Your committee has inquired into the industrial situation here in China and now faces the tremendous fact that with few exceptions the factory system is being built on the bad foundations of child labor, long hours, inadequate wages and working

More than 40 delegates representing 14 nations were present at the meeting. Admiral Tsai Ting-kan, head of the Chinese delegation presided.

Confucius And Mencius Trained By Mothers

By Elsie McCormick

It seems a bit remarkable that the two most famous moral teachers of China were both trained by their mothers. The father of Confucius died when he was three years old; the father of Mencius passed on at an equally early age, leaving the precocious youngster to maternal guidance. Perhaps it was fortunate for their careers as philosophers that these bereavements occurred, mothers being so much more inclined to take optimistic views of their offspring's possibilities.

If the two philosophers in question had had their careers determined by practical paternal influence, it is possible that Confucius would have been guided into opening an embroidery shop and Mencius into setting up a sugar-cane emporium. The material willingness to believe in higher careers has foisted upon the world an uncounted number of half-deaf musicians and color-blind artists, but at least it has prevented a few real possessors of genius from grubbing restlessly amid dollars and cents.

Despite the high cost of moving-vans and the difficulties of securing apartment-house leases, the mother of Mencius tore up the kitchen linoleum every time a bad influence moved in to the neighborhood. Tradition has it that she changed her address once because there were some theaters and several tea-houses in the district and little Mencius was growing too fond of the electric-lighted life. Then she packed up again because there were several money exchanges across the street and her one-piecee progeny became too interested in the rise and fall of the cash. It is here, we venture to offer in hypothesis, that if the future sage's father had lived, a serious split would have occurred in the Mencius family. Undoubtedly the paternal relation would have been delighted at his heir's interest in commercial affairs and would have told his breakfast table partner that turning sonny into a philosopher wasn't likely to accomplish more than to make a sissy out of him.

LUCKY MIGRATIONS

However, Mrs. Mencius moved again and fortunately found herself next door to a little red school-house, where the teacher happened to be the grandson of Confucius. From then on his philosophical career was as smooth as the top of a roulette wheel and he justified his mother's frequent migrations by winning his way to deathless fame.

Our information about Confucius' childhood is not nearly so explicit. His tireless disciples were not yet on duty, hence we know nothing about his measles or early bright remarks or at what age he began to walk. The only biographical scrap vouchsafed about this phase of his career is his love of playing with sacrifical vessels and of going through the postures of ceremony. This early delight in ritual affected all his later life, bringing him a reputation as of fondness for stiff formality and contributing to the historical refrigeration of a character that was really human and loveable.

His weakness for ceremony was a foible inconsistent with his own teachings. Asked about ritualistic observances, he once said, "In all rites, simplicity is better than extravagance; in mourning for the dead, heartfelt sorrow is better than punctiliousness." At another time he stated in effect that ceremonies amount to nothing if there is no sincerity behind them. "Ceremonies, forsooth!" the sage is rumored to have exclaimed. "Can ceremonies be reduced to a mere matter of silken robes and jade ornaments? Music, forsooth! Can music be reduced to a mere matter of bells and drums?" We regret to announce that in jazz orchestras it often is, with occasional recourse to a saxaphone or a cymbal. This fact, however, was a little apart from Confucius' meaning.

COSTLY FUNERAL

In spite of these sentiments, however, the prime minister of the Duke of Tse wanted Confucius kept out of the country because he favored such expensive funeral ceremonies that the people would go bankrupt trying to keep his pace. At the death of his mother, to whom he was intensely devoted, Confucius staged a funeral ceremony which was the talk of five counties and which brought down upon him the criticism even of his disciples. He replied with some striking deathless remark which we don't recall at present, but which, though somewhat histronic, implied the importance of his mother's influence in his life.

Though the years that preceded his twenty-second birthday are

WU PEI-FU AND CANTON MAY JOIN HANDS IN REUNIFICATION

Reports From South Indicate Such A Possibility

CHANG 'THROUGH'

Foreign Observers Convinced He Will Not Try "Comeback"

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 9.—The Tientsin-Pukow train service is being tentatively resumed today.

A mandate issued last night dismisses Mr. Cheng Hung-nien from the post of Vice-Minister and Acting Minister of Communications.

There have been no political developments, pending replies from General Wu Pei-fu, but meanwhile there has been a marked appreciation of Chinese securities. The acceleration of trade is due not only to the ending of hostilities, but also to the defeat of General Chang Tso-lin, whose control of Peking in the last few years has strangled enterprise and has been a heavy drain on the revenues. It transpires that since the banking crisis General Chang has drawn from the Salt Revenues alone, in Tientsin 849,503 taels, in Changchun 850,000 taels and in Shanghai 636,089 taels.

Official circles are breathing more easily, although public disappointment is apparent regarding the personnel of the suggested cabinet of the grounds that old officials are unsuited for the policy of recontruction which is now possible.

Reports from Canton indicate the possibility of an agreement with General Wu Pei-fu, which will quickly bring about reunification. On the other hand, conflicting reports from the same place speak of the imminent downfall of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, in which the Government places no credence, but developments appear to be brewing there.

REVOLT SUPPRESSED

The Peking-Hankow line was interrupted yesterday, but it is reported that General Feng Yu-hsiang quickly suppressed the revolt, of which General Chao Chieh was the ringleader.

Foreign military authorities do not believe that General Chang Tso-lin will attempt a further stand, but will go on to Mukden as soon as he is able to transport sufficient troops to guarantee a safe return.

Telegrams from Kweichow report internal ructions regarding provincial control, but no details are available.

Tientsin, May 9.—The danger at Tientsin has passed and the Volunteers are not remaining on duty.

Thousands more of the Fengtien troops surrendered yesterday in the vicinity of Tientsin, including 4,000 of the Second Cavalry Brigade, who were allowed to keep their ponies and were given civilian clothes and five dollars each. These were promised that they would be sent home, many of them proving to be Chihli and Shantung men.

Thousands were also taken prisoners at Tongku. Although two bridges were partially burnt near Tongku the permanent way was not damaged. Numbers of train loads of Chihli troops have already passed Tongku and are approaching Tongshan.

General Chang Tso-lin has ordered all the Fengtien troops to withdraw beyond the Great Wall, which already they are frantically endeavoring to do.

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, May 9 (Urgent).—At today's Cabinet meeting, it was decided to deprive Chang Tso-lin of his regular as well as additional posts, to put him to trial and to appoint General Sun Lieh-chen, Tuchun of Kirin, as Tuchun of Fengtien.

Chinese Press Wires On The Situation

General Wu Pei-fu has submitted a program of reconstruction in which he advocates five things, namely, (1) Abolition of the posts of High Inspecting Commissioners and Tuchuns; (2) Reduction of the army; (3) Confiscation of the properties of the important personages of the Chiaotung clique and the Fengtien clique; (4) Organisation of an independent cabinet; (5) Convocation of the National Assembly for the framing of the national constitution.

Chang Ching-hui, a Fengtien commander, has just returned to the capital from Nanyuan. He has tendered his resignation of his Tutungship of Chahar and has telegraphed to Tsao Kun, asking him to persuade Wu Pei-fu not to go to extremes in his offensive operations against Chang Tso-lin.

President Hsu Shih-chang has sent Wang Huai-ching and Wu Chi-sun to persuade Wang Shih-chen to form a new cabinet. Wang personally declined the offer when he interviewed President Hsu yesterday. Wang also said that being unexperienced in financial and civil administration, and being an infirm old man who is suffering recently from ailments of the mind and heart, he will not be premier any more.

Sir Francis Aglen has handed to Wang Huai-ching, Chief of Gendarmes, a sum of $300,000 drawn from the salt revenue for the purpose of disbanding the Fengtien soldiers captured and detained at the capital.

General Wu Pei-fu arrived at Tientsin at 1 a.m. yesterday accompanied by the 4th mixed brigade. He brought from Changsintien a body of railway engineers and mechanics who are attending to the work of repairing such parts of the railway as have been destroyed by the fugitive soldiers of the Fengtien forces.

Wu has declared that in pursuing the Fengtien soldiers he would not go beyond the Great Wall. The following proclamation has been issued by General Wu Pei-fu for promulgation in Tientsin: "Whereas the rebellious troops have been routed and have taken flight, the military elements and the people should now pursue with calmness their respective occupations and should not be disturbed by further unnecessary alarms. Capital punishment will be inflicted on any soldier who violates military discipline in molesting the people in connection with the fighting."

General Wu is remaining in his car as his temporary headquarters and no martial law has been declared.

The presidential mandate was to have been issued on Sunday appointing Yang I-teh, Superintendent of Police, acting Civil Governor of Chihli.

There are still many Fengtien soldiers stationed at Chunliangcheng and Tangshan.

A body of Fengtien cavalry had an engagement with the Chihli soldiers at Changchuan of the Peking-Mukden Railway on the morning of the 7th. There was also some desperate fighting between the two forces at Hsiaochan to which the Red Cross Society sent a relief party.

It is reported that the reason of the Fengtien troops being unable to leave Shanhaikuan is due to the pro-Chihli attitude of the Yi Chun soldiers numbering over 10,000.

Instructions have been sent by the Chihli warlords to the Government Mint at Hupeh for the delivery of 10,000,000,000 copper cents for the use of the military exchange shops to be opened at Paoting.

There is a persistant rumor to the effect that General Feng Yu-hsiang will be appointed Tuchun of Anhui.

Cheng Wen-hsiang, the present Tuchun of Anhui, declared martial law in the whole province on the 7th inst.

A telegram has been received at Nanking stating that the Chinese men-of-war Haichow, Chuyu and Jungchi stationed at Chinwangtao and Lungkow had fired on the trains which, loaded with Fengtien soldiers, sought to pass the Great Wall. This firing on the part of the navy to stop the troop trains is reported to have been ordered by Admiral Tu acting under the instructions of Admiral Sah Chen-ping, former Minister of Navy.

The Anhui party approached ex-Premier Tuan Chi-jui with the request that he should again take part in politics now that Chang Tso-lin has been militarily weakened. Tuan said: "There is no occasion to rejoice even if Fengtien had won. Nor is there occasion for grief if, as has been the case, Fengtien is defeated."

It is reported that Liang Shih-yi and Yeh Kung-cho left for Japan on the Chefoo Maru although according to another report, Liang Shih-yi is a passenger on a vessel coming to Shanghai.

According to the report of a representative sent by Dr. Sun Yat-sen, President of the Southern Government, to interview Chen Chiung-ming at Huichow, General Chen, despite his professions of peace inclinations, is fortifying Huichow and has established forts in the vicinity of the railway station Shekiung.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen has handed over the affairs of the President's Office to Dr. Wu Ting-fang who will be in charge of the Presidency during Dr. Sun's absence. Dr. Wu proposes to visit Huichow shortly in order to persuade Governor Chen to return to Canton.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen has appointed Li Lieh-chun Commander-in-Chief of the Punitive Expedition to the North and Hsu Tsung-chih as Assistant Commander-in-Chief.

Notes On The Situation

The confiscation of all private properties belonging to members of the Chiaotung and Fengtien cliques was demanded in a note sent by General Wu Pei-fu to General Wang Huai-ching, commandant of the Gendarmerie in Peking. He further asked to be given a list of all arms seized from Mukden troops by Peking militarists.

Sir Francis Aglen has released the sum of $300,000 of the salt revenue for the reparation of Fengtien troops. The money has been turned over to General Wang Huai-ching.

The gates of Peking are only open periodically. Only three times a day traffic is allowed to pass on a large scale.

The report that Liang Shih-yi and Yeh Kung-cho had boarded a Japanese steamer for Japan has been confirmed.

Martial law has been declared in Anhui by Tuchun Chang Wen-sung.

According to the Dah Tong News Agency, the Presidential Office has consented to pay the sum of $30,000,000 spent by the Chihli Army during the recent conflict.

It is reported that in an interview given to former Premier Sun Pao-chi by General Wu Pei-fu, the latter insisted that President Hsu at once call the convocation of a Parliament. General Wu himself would not interfere in the matter of choice, which would be left entirely to the present executive.

The congratulatory message of Tuchun Chen Kwan-yuan of Kiangsi to General Wu included a request for military assistance in his province on account of the advance of the Anti-Northern Expedition of Dr. Sun Yat-sen. Wu has consented to despatch two brigades to Chen's aid.

The Fengtien stragglers at Lanchow have been notified by General Wu that unless they evacuate the place and retreat beyond the gates of Shanhaikwan, the Chihli forces will advance against them upon the expiration of three days.

(Eastern News Agency)

Peking, May 8.—The Administrative Bureau of the Peking Suiyuan Railway announces that the traffic on both the main and branch lines of the Railway has been reopened as from May 7.

Many Explanations Of Fengtien Rout

(Kuo Wen News Agency)

Peking, May 6.—Various reasons are given for the retreat of the Fengtien forces, one being that they did so on their own account, no new supplies having arrived. That they withdrew freely appears to be confirmed by the fact that foreigners state that eight trains on the Peking-Mukden Line and the Peking-Kalgan Railway were noticed running as usual.

Most of the Fengtien troops have been withdrawn from Chihli and have returned to their original posts in Fengtien. Others who laid down their rifles and surrendered to Chihli have been placed in prison camps, where everything is very quiet.

President Hsu Shih-chang has sent his younger brother, Hsu Shih-tsang, Vice Minister of Communications, to Fengtai to reward the victorious Chihli troops.

Foreign Editorial Comment On War

(Reuter's Special Service)

London, May 8.—The Manchester Guardian in an editorial article today says that Dr. Sun Yat-sen has apparently backed the wrong horse and must now readjust his diplomacy.

The important fact about the fighting in China is that it has given no excuse for foreign interests to send forces to China to exact preposterous indemnities for damages.

The upshot of the fighting, the Guardian says, gives little hope for the consolidation of China, and her great unifying mind has yet to come.

The Times in a leading article under the heading of "China's Opportunity" says that General Wu Pei-fu's work will not be complete until General Chang Tso-lin has at least been driven back into Manchuria.

It points out that General Chang Tso-lin has long been in close relationship with the Japanese and says that it will be interesting to see how this connection will serve him at this moment of lost prestige.

General Wu Pei-fu, the article says, is primarily a soldier and a very capable one as things go in China, but he has yet to win his spurs as a statesman. The task before him is difficult and in the end there is the risk that he may become the tool of politicians.

It is his immediate duty to endeavor to come to an agreement with the Southern Party and in co-operation with them to nominate a government which will have the allegiance of both the North and South.

Feng Declares War To Knife On Chao

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Hankow, May 8.—General Chao Chieh has been defeated at Chungmowhsien. General Feng Yu-hsiang is now advancing to Kaifengfu. It is reported that General Li Lieh-chun is in action on the Kiangsi-Kuangtung border.

General Feng Yu-hsiang's official communique on the Honan conflict was as follows:

"Since the outbreak of war between the Constitutionalists' Army and the monarchists and Hunghutse, Honan has avowed its allegiance to us. In the movement of our troops we had consulted this province on every minor detail and with the utmost sincerity. We had entertained the hope that Honan would share with us the responsibilities of this great trial and attain our common goal in a co-operative spirit.

"To our great surprise, Tuchun Chao Ti had been secretly engaged in intrigues, acting diametricaly opposite to his word. Taking advantage of the fact that most of our troops had been assigned duties at the fighting front and that our garrison in Honan was but thinly manned, he suddenly on the morning of the 6th marched his main forces against Chengchow and tore up the railroad.

"Fortunately, our forces stationed there, consisting of the Eighth Mixed Brigade and the 22nd and 47th Brigades, were on the alert to face the situation and succeeded in routing the enemy after a serious combat lasting one day.

"While the defense of Chengchow is once more secure, we cannot tolerate the conduct of a man who would deliberately side with outlaws, treacherously sell his friends and willingly cast his lot with scoundrels and traitors.

"Therefore I have just mobilised the First, Second and Fourth Brigades of the First Division of Shensi forces and the fifth Brigade of the Third Division of Chihli forces to round up the stragglers as well as to rid the province of all Chao's followers. I am determined to suppress them so that the world may know that no renegades will be allowed to exist."

(China Press Correspondence)

Sungkiang, May 9.—A number of schools met together this morning to celebrate the National Disgrace Day. The Provincial Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Lok Kwe-liang made an interesting and very practical address, which will do the many young minds a world of good if they pay heed to it. It is a hopeful sign for China to see young scholars of the land keeping alive, within them love of country and patriotic ideals.

A general feeling of gladness exists among the informed public over the defeat of Chang Tso-ling. It was felt that if he won, there would almost surely be trouble in these parts. Everything is quiet and serene now.

China Labor Conditions Reported To Conference

conditions that are a menace to life. Does the Church stand for that? For cheap lives and cheap labor?

"Let us put ourselves in the place of the growing army of men, women and children in industry and view our responsibility from that angle. Can Christianity have any appeal to them if it does not touch a condition which is the negation of Christianity?

"Must the tragic and humiliating history of the West be repeated here? Will China continue to bring all the best in the way of mechanical invention and leave out the big responsibility toward the human side? There is no stability and no future for a system that has such a basis. It is of no use to blame one group of society alone. We are all responsible. Can we who are Westerners, in the light of our history remain silently in the fact of what is going on?

"China is in danger of beginning her industrial history on the basis of valuing machinery higher than life. Men are sent to America, England, Germany, and Japan to study the latest methods of production. How long will it take us to realise that the human factor is the biggest factor of all Why should industry be developed in such a one-sided way? In the West we are beginning to realise our mistake. Emphasis is being laid on the need for consideration of the human element. Could not China show the world a better order for industry by combining these two from the very beginning?

URGES TAKING STAND

"Now is the time for shouldering responsibility and helping. The committee carefully considered how that help could best be given and felt that it could not do better than take as its standard the International stand which workers, employers, and governments drafted at Washington in 1919. China was outside that agreement. Realising the practical difficulty of putting all these standards into effect now, we selected three points for your immediate endorsement:

1. No employment of children under twelve full years of age.
2. One day's rest in seven.
3. Safeguarding the health of workers by shortening working hours, improving sanitary conditions, and installing safety devises.

"Children are defenceless. Ought not the church to help all such? It has been said that 'the hope of the church lies in its children because the future depends on them.'

"Is not one day's rest in seven a physical and mental need? Can anyone work twelve hours a day one week and a twelve hour shift at night the following week without suffering in the long run?

NEED SAFETY DEVICES

"And are not safety devices for protecting the workers from machines just plain humanity? There are people in this room who could tell terrible tales of what they see in their hospitals in the factory districts. Is there any reason why the modern system of ventilation and sanitation should not accompany the modern machinery? Will anyone gainsay these points?

"As soon as they are mentioned people begin to formulate the difficulties in the way, for instance, that children are better off in the factory than on the streets, that their tiny wage is needed for their food, that there are no schools, no legislation. Do you realise that there is nothing said in China today that was not said in England one hundred years ago, yet the difficulties were overcome.

"I put these recommendations in front of a business man the other day. He was silent for some time and then said, 'This is the finest answer to the anti-Christian movement that I have seen.' Would it not be a wonderful thing for this conference to go on record for taking this stand—for doing what no church in a similar stage of its history has done?

FOREIGN EMPLOYERS AID

"It has been said over and over again that nothing can be done until there is legislation, but what is legislation but an official seal on public opinion and the efforts of a few pioneers? These two necessary elements are at hand—there are some employers, one or two are in this room, who are willing to be pioneers. Mr. Nieh has expressed himself on this matter this morning and I have been in touch with four other representatives of the cotton industry who say that I may tell you that they too are in sympathy with these standards. They realise the great difficulties in the way, but are appreciative of all that the constructive help of such a group as this may mean. These men are Mr. Brooke-Smith, Sir Edward Pearce, Mr. C. Arnhold, and Mr. G. Okada, who with Mr. Nieh represent some of the leading cotton interests of China. Public opinion is aroused, it remains for this representative conference to voice it.

"In the report of Commission III on the 'Message of the Church' given on Saturday Dr. T. T. Lew said, 'We hereby call upon the Church to mobilise all her forces to work for the regeneration of the home, of economic conditons, of political standards, of educational, industrial and commercial life, in thought and in practise, through the spiritualising power of Christ, and to accomplish it at any cost and at whatever sacrifice the Church may suffer.'

"We need not enter upon palliative superficial work, but work backed by the principle of the infinite value of each human being. With this international standard as our goal, there is an immense work ahead. The Church then can go forward courageously, rallying all its splendid educational, health and social service facilities for dealing with the problem and resolutely planning all its future work in the light of approximating this standard.

IS GREAT CHALLENGE

"There are two things which this conference might do—first, Acknowledge the responsibility of the Church in this field, and second, mobilise all its forces in the light of the international labor standard. In the West the industrial problem is the most acute question of the day. Between labor and capital a gulf is fixed that the Church and other bodies are trying to bridge. The situation will rapidly get to the same point here if not checked. I submit that there is not a greater challenge across your path than this one which we present to you this morning."

Following Miss Harrison's address Rev. A. M. Sherman of Wuchang urged that the Conference take a stand on this issue and asked the National Christian Council to give it the widest possible publicity. This resolution which expressed the opinion of many others who spoke to the recommendation was referred to the Business Committee for further consideration by the Conference as a whole.

DISCUSS EDUCATION

The afternoon session was given entirely to discussion of a Christian education in China based upon the recently completed report of the China Educational Commission. That report, which is now published under the title "Christian Education in China" has been characterised "the most complete, expert and sympathetic Survey" that has ever been made of this subject. Its findings were presented by Rev. E. W. Wallace of Chengtu and Mr. Frances Wei of Boone University. Among the major points made by this Commission are the following:

"Since Christian education was begun in China the realm of education has been entered on a large and rightful scale by the government, the function of the Christian church at this stage is therefore defined as that of the duty of concentrating, through its educational system, on the development of a strong Christian community for the purpose of making China, in so far as possible, a Christian Nation.

"The study which the Commission has made .. .. .. has brought them to the conviction that Christian principles may yet become the controlling force in China's life. But whether this shall be the case will depend in so small measure upon the wisdom and intelligence with which Christian education is carried on in the next few years, and the generosity with which it is supported by gifts from Christian lands. Evangelism is supremely important. But evangelism itself will fail if there are not schools in which to produce evangelists who, knowing the Christian message, can speak to their own people, Chinese to Chinese. If Christian education fails, the growing stream of non-Christian education and of anti-Christian influence will submerge the Christian movement, or reduce it to a place of minor importance. The future of Christian education is not yet assured .. .. .. It is not yet settled whether Christian education is to be the determining force or a relatively insignificant and diminishing factor in Chinese life. On the answer to this question will largely hang the decision whether China will become a Christian nation, perhaps the stronghold of Christianity in future centuries. If the present hours of opportunity is vigorously and wisely seized, if unimportant differences are forgotten and all our efforts are united to build up a system of education, sound, vigorous, progressive, and fundamentally Christian, which shall in turn create a strong Christian community expressing in its life the spirit and principles of Christianity, we may look with hope to the time when the religion of Jesus will be the religion of China."

DESIRE WIDE RANGE

The question is constantly asked as to whether there is a permanent place for Christian education side by side with Government schools. The Commission answers this in a decided affirmative. Looked at from the viewpoint of what China needs, not what the church wants, it is desirable to have the widest range of presenting experimental education if it is in line with the best standards of public education. This is especially desirable while government education is in its early stage, it is moreover in accord with the democratic development of any country. Christian education must, however, meet the double task of being not only scientifically as good as that of the public system but permeated through and through with the power and spirit of the Christian religion.

Other strong points made by the educational section of Commission II on the Task of the Church touched upon the need of concentrating upon a literate church, upon the overwhelming need of providing occupational training for all students and also training in citizenship.

HEAR OF WOMEN'S WORK

Following the afternoon session 150 of the women delegates to the Conference meet for a special session called at the Ningpo Guild Hall by Miss Myfanwy Wood, one of the executive secretaries of the Conference. The meeting was addressed by Mrs. Hsu of Fukien and Mrs. Kaskallen of Szechuen on the question of the significance of the Conference for women's work and there was full discussion afterwards on the part of many of the delegates. Miss Wood closed the meeting with a tribute to Miss Grace Coppock who, until her death, which was in October last, was General Secretary of the Y.W.C.A. and through whose efforts the presentation in this Conference was brought about. Miss Wood claimed that Miss Coppock had for years foreseen the coming freedom of Chinese women and the desire that would come with that freedom for a full and free place in the life of the Church.

This morning's session will be given to the discussion of the leadership of the church and in the afternoon the Conference will break into five sectional meetings to discuss Church finance, illiteracy, the church and moral questions, the missionary outreach of the church, Christian literature, and the application of Christianity to economic conditions.

The witness in the case was one who gave the police information leading to a successful opium raid. He stated that after the raid he was approached several times by the defendant, who wished to secure account books seized by the police. When he declined to act he was threatened and several days later he was attacked by three men on Hoihow Road and was stabbed.

Moscow Stands With Far Eastern Republic, He Says

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 9.—Interviewed by the Genoa correspondent of the New York Herald, M. Chicherin said that the interests of the Far Eastern Republic completely coincided with those of the Soviet Government, which was prepared to go to any length to protect that Far Eastern democracy from any attempts of Japanese imperialists to turn it into another Korea. Unless Japan abandoned that idea, he declared, she must anticipate serious complications with Russia in the near future.

Genoa, May 9.—The Japanese Delegation has written to M. # KING AND QUEEN OF BRITAIN VISIT BELGIAN RULERS

Great Throngs Welcome Royal Guests At Brussels

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 8.—Their Majesties the King and Queen received a very hearty send-off from London this morning on their first State visit to the King and Queen of the Belgians since the war.

In brilliant sunshine great crowds loudly cheered their Majesties as they drove to Victoria Station, where the Duke of Connaught bade them farewell. Their Majesties were accompanied by the Earl and Countess of Athlone, Earl Haig and Lord Beatty. An equally enthusiastic welcome was given the King and Queen at Dover, where they embarked on the Royal yacht, Alexandra, which was escorted by nine destroyers to Calais en route for Brussels.

Brussels, May 8.—King Albert, in a General's uniform and wearing the Order of the Garter, accompanied by the Queen and attended by the celebrated Burgomaster, M. Max, awaited the arrival of the train with Their British Majesties on board.

As the latter emerged, tremendous cheering began, which ran the whole route from the station to the Palace traversed by the Royal visitors. Dense crowds availed themselves of every point of vantage in and overlooking the streets, which were lined with cavalry and infantry. The city had a festival appearance. Brilliant sunshine added to the splendor of the occasion.

SHANGHAI CRICKETERS TO MEET HONGKONG SERVICES COMMENCINC 11.30 TODAY

Best Local Players Expect To Repeat Win Of 13 Years Ago

For the first time in thirteen years the Shanghai Cricket Club meets a Garrison or Services cricket eleven from Hongkong this afternoon on the S.C.C. Grounds in the opening of a two-day match. The game has almost the quality of an interport affair. The visiting team is composed of the best of the British Army and Navy from the Southern port. The class of play is expected to be unusually high.

Selections for the Shanghai team, after several trials under conditions quite adverse find the following representing the local colors: Barrett, Allison, Brook, Billings, Clifford, Cockburn, Hayward, Leach, Ollerdessen, Wainwright, Wilson, and reserve, Day.

The team represents the best local cricketers in condition for the field. Barrett led the S.C.C. batting list last season with a 165 and an average of 59.5 and Clifford was second high man in that club with a 138 and an average of 36.6. Ollerdessen, often ranked as the second best batsman in the Settlement, led the list of the Recs club with an average of 35.60. Leach, Wainwright and Wilson also have given many runs to their respective teams.

As to bowling Shanghai is well placed, in spite of the absence of Dr. O'Hara, due to illness. Allison, Billings, Wilson, Wainwright, Clifford and Leach all have trundled for fine averages and are all now in condition for a test as severe as the Services game threatens. In spite of the short time for training Shanghai considers itself in a good position for the match.

Hongkong will play the following men, all fine cricketers, fresh from a long season of playing: Major Bagnall (Captain), Major Wright, Captain Olliver, Captain Havelock Davies, Captain Le Fleming, Rev. Purcell, Lieut. Stewart, Lieut. Graham, Lieut. Beattie, Mid. Sparks, Mid. Hayter.

Cricket records show the last Shanghai - Hongkong Garrison match as having been played here in 1909. The result was Shanghai 294, 166; Hongkong Garrison 207, 215. The match however was not considered in the interport records as the S.C.C. alone represented Shanghai against the Garrison.

The match today commences at 11:30 a.m. Mr. J. Cameron of Shanghai, and Mr. W. J. Haynes of Hongkong will referee.

NG SZE-KWONG WINS SINGLES NET TITLE AGAIN

Hongkong, May 4.—Ng Sze-kwong who played in Shanghai last spring retains his title to the Singles Tennis Championship of the Colony. Yesterday afternoon he defeated M. W. Lo (challenger), by three straight sets, 6-3 6-4, 6-3. This makes Ng Sze-kwong Singles Champion of the Colony for the fifth year in succession. Lo played a fine game in the opening stages of the match, and at one period in the second set looked like giving the champion a hard fight. He led 4-2, but then Ng outplayed him and took four games in succession and the set for 6-4. Although brilliant at times, Lo played far below the excellent form he exhibited against A. A. Rumjahn on Monday. He lost many points by faulty service, and smashed into the net persistently. Ng placed well as usual.

POLO GROUND OPEN

The Polo Ground will be open for regular polo play from today. Games will be played on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, play beginning each day at 5 o'clock.

Collegiate Track Meets Abandoned Because Of War

The war in the North between the forces of Chang Tso-lin and Wu Pei-fu, which has resulted in the abandonment of regular railway schedules between Pukow and Tientsin has finally interfered with sport in China. The North China Intercollegiate track and field meet set for May 13 at Nanking, as well as the National Intercollegiate track and field meeting originally scheduled for May 20 have been indefinitely abandoned because of the war and the attendant disrupted railway service. It is not known yet when the meets will be held. All colleges in Eastern and Northern China already have held their preliminary meets to select representatives for the National teams.

NEW FOOTBALL SCORING RULE IS GIVEN A TRY OUT

The new football scoring rule which was recently adopted by the American football rules committee, abolishing the free trial for a goal after a touchdown, and which provides in its stead that a team scoring a touchdown may put the ball in play on or back of the opponents' five yard line and from scrimmage try for a single point by any legal scoring play, follows:

"Goal from touchdown—When a touchdown has been made the side scoring the touchdown has possession of the ball anywhere on or outside the five-yard line for a scrimmage, from which by any legal play, as from an ordinary scrimmage, pass, kick or run, they may score a field goal or touchdown and that the score of any character shall net them one point.

"If the attacking side makes a foul or illegal or incompleted pass or other play they lose their chance for the one point following a touchdown.

"If the defending side offends the rules the score of one point shall be awarded to the attacking team."

Changes also were made in rules governing the shift play and clipping. The new shift rule reads:

"In all shift plays 'both feet stationary on the ground' is interpreted to mean a sufficient momentary pause as to admit the official seeing that the play is legal and that the ball is not snapped while the men are in motion. It is the intention of the rule that when a man shifts to a new position he shall come to a full stop so that all momentum is lost and make a new start from a position at rest where the ball is put in play."

The clipping rule follows:

"Clipping is throwing the body from behind across the leg or legs (below the knees) of a player not carrying the ball and shall be ruled as unnecessary roughness.

"Note—This rule is not meant to apply to close line plunging."

The new rule has been given a tryout during the spring practice at the University of Notre Dame. In a practice game a month ago the scoring team was successful in adding the extra point in three out of four tries. Following the first touchdown, the teams lined up for the five-yard line, and the seventh point was made by a drop kick. Then another drop kick was successful. The third attempt also succeeded, but this time a forward pass was used. On the fourth attempt another pass was tried, but was knocked down.

East And West Draw At Tennis

Berkeley Cal., May 8.—Great crowds of tennis fans watched the East and West break even in tennis doubles here today. Vincent Richards, the young New York, star, defeated Roland Roberts of California in four sets.

Thereafter Richards played his true form and took the next three to the tune of 6-1, 6-2, 6-3.

William Johnston of California defeated William Tilden, the champion, in a hard fought battle. Tilden took the first 6-2. Then Johnston came back defeating Tilden in the second 6-4.

LOCAL BASEBALL SQUAD TO START INTENSIVE DRILLING TODAY FOR SATURDAY'S GAME

Press Agent's Reports From North Has Shanghai Nine Muchly Concerned

Baseball dope received here from Nanking Tuesday which contained the startling yet welcome information that the Language School men had in their lineup one real big leaguer, and eight or ten other first class baseball college men from the States has stirred the local aggregation to a plan of concentrated drilling in preparation for the big game on Saturday. Commencing this afternoon the first infield and the first outfield will be given a hard workout, while battery-men will be put through their paces on the side-lines.

Shanghai is not fearful of Nanking but after receiving the visitors' lineup and a little information as to their players' former experience, local players have formed a profound respect for Nanking's ability. They are all of the opinion that a close and intensive drilling is needed for Saturday's game. And they are going to it.

Wynn and Scott will do the pitching on Saturday. Wynn has showed considerable class for a youngster not yet aclimated. He has control, speed and a baseball head. Scott is too well known locally to require introduction. Griffith, Hirsh, and possible, Bruce or Jack Smith will do the catching. They all are good. Smith might be used perhaps to better advantage at second, and Bruce always works beautifully in the outfield. He stops 'em well however behind the bat, and has the best peg to second seen in Shanghai since the catchers of the last two Ninth Cavalry teams performed here, so he may be asked to wear the mask on Saturday.

Since Hopkins' injury last Sunday, it falls to Woods to cover first base. Jack Smith, Howland, or Hubbard will handle second, with Bills at short and Maloney at third. The infield any way it is finally selected will be a winner, as good as the best put out a year ago, or maybe better. S. F. Smith, Campbell, Wilhelmni and Church will work in the outfield. The lineup is a clever fielding and hard hitting aggregation. They should be able to come through Saturday's game with the pennant.

Commencing this afternoon the local nine will concentrate on a serious drilling infield and outfield practice with everyone working hard for the developement of a first team for the first big game of the season. All of the squad are expected out for their regular workout today, tomorrow and Friday to help the big team to get into to prime condition for a really stiff game.

Review Of Year Presented To The China Association

Peking. But at this precise moment any attempt to foresee the outcome of these events would be mere guesswork.

"It yet remains to be seen, however, whether any of the men now in the public eye of China is able to lead this great country into a system of sound government and whether he is patriotic enough to sacrifice his own personal and pecuniary advancement for the benefit of his country at large.

"It has been the custom for your Chairman at these meetings invariably to refer to the appalling state of the country, and, in spite of the fact that Sir Charles Addis is reported to have stated that the gravity of the political situation in China is exaggerated, I cannot help thinking that the position today must be viewed with very grave concern. The so-called Peking Government being incapable of controlling or directing the affairs of the country, the Tuchun of each Province is a power unto himself.

"We sympathise with China in all the political unrest, and we can only hope that this present phase of incessant struggle for supremacy will eventually produce men of sufficiently strong and patriotic character who will restore this vast country to a semblance of peace and prosperity.

"It is certainly our desire to see a re-united and prosperous China and, as I stated last year, if there is anything this Association can do which will make for any improvement in the present state of affairs in China we shall assist.

DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE

"The attitude taken up by your Committee is fully set forth on pages 16 to 26 of the report and consequently there is little for me to add to what you already know.

"In regard to the Commission to inquire into the present practice of extraterritorial jurisdiction in China, we cabled the London Committee asking whether they could inform us when this Commission would be likely to arrive and the names of the delegates appointed. In reply we received a cable in which it is stated that the Commission will be international and that up to the present the British representatives had not been appointed. The London Committee promised to keep us advised of all developments as they occurred and added certain information which they had obtained from the Foreign Office. This information is most valuable, but perhaps I should not say more than to state that in your Committee's opinion it is distinctly reassuring. Since this cable was received, we have had no further news, and accordingly we do not yet know who are to be appointed as the British representatives.

"In the meantime we have appointed a local subcommittee, as is mentioned in the report, which have already commenced their investigations.

"The terms upon which it is proposed to hand Weihaiwei back to China are clearly outlined in a paraphrase of a telegram dated March 18 from H. M. Secretary of State for the Colonies to the Officer Administering the Government at Weihaiwei. We have nothing further to say on this question.

"The decision arrived at by the Conference over the Shantung settlement involved, I am sure, an immense expenditure of time and trouble and has, I venture to think, met with the approval of the British communities in China as a fair and reasonable solution of all the complicated issues. On the whole I consider China has come out very well and will only have herself to blame if she does not profit by the results.

COPPER CURRENCY

"The continued depreciation of this subsidiary currency continues to cause considerable uneasiness. On page 28 of our report we give you the average rates of depreciation for each month during 1921, a drop from 29.27 percent to 35.10 percent in value has an exceedingly detrimental effect on the purchasing powers of the poorer class of Chinese and foreigners in these Settlements. We have repeatedly laid the seriousness of this evil of the over-production of light weight copper coins before the Legation at Peking, and I am pleased to be able to inform you that H. M. Minister is giving the matter his constant attention. On April 27 last H. M. Acting Consul-General informed us that H. M. Minister had as recently as on the 17th of that month addressed a further communication to the Minister of Foreign Affairs at Peking. The Waichiaopu had previously stated that all the Mints with the exception of that at Hankow had then complied with the instructions of the Currency Bureau to cease minting copper coins. The Minister had in reply already pointed out that this statement was incorrect as regards the Mint at Hunan and in his last note conclusively showed that the instructions of the Central Government had also been completely disregarded by the Anhui Mint. Your committee sincerely appreciate the attention H. M. Minister is giving to this subject and feel sure that he will continue to do all in his power to urge the Chinese Government to check the continued debasement of the national currency, which, for the sake of improper gain, is inflicting so much injury upon traders throughout the country.

22 NEW MEMBERS

"Although 22 new members were elected during the year, our membership now totals only 334, as against 328 in March, 1921. This small increase in the total membership is mainly due to its having been ascertained that several members who had left China some few years ago wished their names to be transferred from our registers on to the London books.

"During the year, Messrs. C. J. Scott and A. M. Cannan resigned from the committee on leaving for England and Messrs. R. W. Robertson and P. W. Massey were invited and consented to serve in their places.

"The accounts call for little comment. At the beginning of the year we had a credit balance Tls. 221.92, and this had, at the time we closed our accounts, increased to Tls. 443.38, which we have carried forward. Once more I have pleasure in recording the committee's sincere thanks to Mr. L. D. Lemaire, who has again so kindly undertaken the audit of the accounts.

"You will have received with your copies of the annual report a notice concerning the payment of the annual subscription, and I am asked by the Hon. Treasurer to mention that it would be of great assistance if those members who have not already done so would kindly forward their remittances to him as early as possible.

GENERAL WORK

"In conclusion I wish to refer to the general work of this Association. Most of you will be aware that the vast bulk of your committee's work is done through the London Committee and that it is one of the privileges of the Chairman of the London Committee to have at all times direct and immediate access to the Foreign Office. All matters of serious importance are referred either by cable or special letter to London, and, in addition, the Secretary, with the approval of your committee, writes full letters reporting comprehensively upon any questions which your committee may have under consideration. Our representatives, as I may call the London Committee, are therefore kept well informed of the modern not extensively on record, it is fair to assume that his mother played the stellar role. Certainly it was she who encouraged her son in his philosophical career, and it is more than likely that some of the pearls of wisdom that he scattered in later years were first delivered to him from across the maternal ironing-board.

Confucius And Mencius Trained By Mothers

Confucius' early history may be sketchy, but at least we know a little of his time. There was no tea or chairs or porcelain. The Chinese sat on the floor, ate from heavy earthen dishes, and wore flowing robes that bore a striking resemblance to Japanese kimonos. In fact, the Chinese claim that their neighbors copied the mode from them and have been too conservative to make any change during the intervening centuries.

The China of that period knew nothing of Buddhism or opium or a central government. About a hundred assorted feudal dukes sniped at each other from behind mud walls and all was as merry as a riot in Madison Square Gardens.

It was into this sort of a country that Confucius stepped with his own handmade ethics.

China Association Reviews Past Year

conditions and affairs in China, and being an old-established and well known organisation, enjoying the privilege to which I have just referred, are exceptionally well qualified to carry the various matters through to a successful conclusion.

"You will, gentlemen, in these circumstances readily appreciate that much information of a strictly private and confidential nature is conveyed to the London Committee and through them to your own committee and that, if these private communications were divulged, the confidence reposed in the London Committee would be withdrawn and the work of the Association correspondingly hampered.

"These remarks are not made in any spirit of self-glorification, but rather with the object of conveying to members that, although they see so little of the work done by their committee, every possible step is taken to protect their political, and indirectly, their commercial interests, and it is always with extreme reluctance that the committee have to exclude from their annual reports many of the more interesting and important questions they have dealt with during the year. Although our annual report is only of the average length, this last year has been an exceptionally active one and in this connection I do not think I can do better than quote a paragraph from a letter written in December last by the London Secretary to our Secretary:—'Contrary to all experience in the China Association, the past autumn has been the busiest in my recollection, and although I have attempted to write to you on several occasions other matters of urgency have invariably intervened. Though this has been the fact, the correspondence and telegrams I enclose will demonstrate to you that our time has been fully occupied in matters closely connected with Shanghai and the general welfare of British interests in China.'

CONGRATULATE SIR EDWARD

The report and accounts were adopted and Mr. A. C. Clear then rose to offer congratulations to Sir Edward Pearce upon the occasion of his knighthood. Mr. Clear voiced the gratification experienced by members of the Association over this well merited honor and over the honor conferred by their French friends as well in making Sir Edward a member of the Legion d'Honneur. Sir Edward replied briefly.

The following ten nominees were elected en bloc to serve as the committee for the new year, being proposed by Mr W. P. Lambe and seconded by Mr. H. W. Lester: Messrs. B. D. F. Beith, A. C. Clear, O. M. Green, C. G. Humphreys, E. F. Mackay, C. G. S. Mackie, P. W. Massey, Duncan McNeill, F. W. Potter and R. W. Robertson.

The meeting concluded with a very interesting recounting of a recent tour of Szechuen by Mr. F. H. Hiscock and with a vote of thanks to the chairman and outgoing committee.

Prince Of Wales Sails From Japan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, May 9.—The Prince of Wales left Nagoshima this evening. In saying farewell to the Japanese nation His Royal Highness expressed his most sincere thanks for the wonderful hospitality shown on every side since his arrival.

Though at the time the invitation to visit Japan had been received he had realised that he was coming to a country whose traditional friendship with Great Britain was a living reality, he was quite unprepared for the genuine warmth of the welcome in store, not only in the larger cities and towns he had visited, but in every small village through which he had passed. His Royal Highness said he appreciated his welcome the more in that it was a manifestation of the friendship given him as his father's son and as the representative of that other Island Empire which had been so long intimately associated with Japan by the closest bonds. The Prince of Wales added that though his knowledge of Japan was inevitably superficial, he was sincerely grateful for the opportunites of renewing his friendship with the Prince Regent and of meeting the leading statesmen and enjoying the wonderful scenic beauties of the country. He declared he would carry away with him the happiest recollections of the last month and would return home realising the full value of the friendship which had so long existed between the two nations.

ROBBERS TO DIE

Three armed robbers convicted of participation in the robbery of a house on Yochow Road, where a Chinese was murdered with a chopper, were ordered handed over to the Arsenal authorities for execution by Assessor Jacobs and Magistrate Li of the Mixed Court yesterday. There were four men in the gang which entered the house.

Scouts Jamboree To Aid Ground Fund Takes Place May 24

Boy Scouts are busy throughout the city selling tickets for the annual Jamboree, which is to be held on May 24, Empire Day. The jamboree will be participated in by the combined troops, B. P. and American, and the funds raised through it are to go toward the securing of grounds of adequate area for Scout activities.

There will be a keen spirit of competition in the stunts, for this is the day of testing and comparison of results of the year's work, and the bigger the crowd in attendance the keener the competition, so it's hoped that there will be a big turn-out to witness the efforts of the troops.

$2,500 was secured at the last jamboree and it is hoped to eclipse this mark at the next, for the Scouts need a bigger ground than they have at present, toward which bigger plot they last year put away $1,000. Tickets are $1 for adults and half-price for children.

COMPANY ISSUES HELPFUL BOOKLET ON PHOTOGRAPHY

Booklets which Burroughs Wellcome and Co. issue without charge to photographers possess real educational value and are remarkable in presenting scientific and up-to-date methods in a way that is not only exceedingly attractive but remarkably clear to the amateur who has had no training in chemistry or physics.

When all but a few workers were prejudiced against the scientific methods of development now widely adopted Burroughs Wellcome and Co. had the prescience to throw their weight into the scale. Their persistent advocacy of precise, as against rule-of-thumb methods, and their explanations of photographic work have done much to banish prejudices of the past.

The latest booklet "The Right Way in Photography" is a model of lucid explanation. It puts the whole case for time development into a nutshell and provides information of service to every photographer, beginner or expert.

Time Tables for development in solutions of various dilutions, and suitable for tank or tray work, are provided, together with a list of plates classified according to their speeds of developments.

The cover is a fine example of photogravure printing and reproduces one of the many remarkable illustrations from Mr. H. G. Pointing's book, The Great White South, in which he describes his photographic work with Captain Scott's South Polar Expedition.

A copy of "The Right Way in Photography" may be had on application to Burroughs Wellcome and Co., 44 Szechuen Road, Shanghai, China.

Exchange Fluctuations
Asia Banking Corporation

May 9, 1922

Spot bar silver was up ⅛d. and forward unchanged in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 69½ cents, and the London-New York cross rate declined to 443½.

The only changes in the official quotations here today were a drop in the Rupee rate to 264½, and in the Gold Dollar rate to 73¾.

Our market here today was steady, business in Sterling in the morning being done at about 3-5⅞ for all deliveries to July, and in Gold Dollars at 77½ for May and 77⅜ for June-July.

In the afternoon, however, rates steadied up somewhat, there being sellers of Sterling for May and June delivers at 3-6 and in Gold Dollars at 77½ for the same deliveries.

India bought a small amount of silver in London yesterday, and the market there, as well as in New York, is reported as steady.

A Survey Of The Political, Religious And Economic Situation In China—III

WESTERN HUNAN

NOTE: THE CHINA PRESS has asked a number of the delegates to the National Christian Conference now in session in Shanghai to prepare special articles on the religious, political and economic situations in their provinces. The delegates here represent every section of the country. This survey, we hope, will prove of special value both here and abroad. Later we plan to reprint these articles in pamphlet form. The third received is by

REV. J. FRANK BUCHER
(Shenchowfu, Hunan)

THE outstanding fact in Western Hunan is the famine. Up to April 10, when the writer left Shenchowfu, conditions were steadily becoming worse. Branches of the Hunan Chinese Foreign Relief Committee were organised last Autumn in each hsien, and these committees have done all that they possibly could with the funds provided. Careful investigations were made in most of the hsiens, although the bandits made this difficult in a few country districts. In Yuanling, a card index of every family in the hsien is filed with the distribution committee. On the basis of these investigations, distribution has been made, and although the funds provided have been quite inadequate, yet thousands of people have been saved from starvation.

Under such conditions, trade is naturally at a standstill. The merchants are not laying in stocks of goods, silver is hard to get, hundreds of shop assistants and apprentices have been thrown out of work and have no means of supporting their families, while farmers, carpenters, masons, and other skilled laborers are willing to work for any wages they can get. Teachers in private country schools and even Government school teachers have lost their positions because of the closing down of their schools, with the result that often their wives and daughters are compelled to earn the family living, sometimes by coolie labor. Even the trade in rice is not flourishing because of two factors, (1) the interference of soldiers who often stop the boats on their way up the Yuan River, commandeering the rice for which they pay their own price, and (2) the great mass of the people have no money with which to buy.

However, the trade in opium is flourishing. In Yuanling comparatively little has been planted and harvested, although the soldiers strongly urged the farmers to plant, But in Giencheng much opium has been planted near the hsien city and Chenki W. (Soil.). The planting of this opium has prevented any famine relief work in those sections. The pity of this ruling is shown by the fact that the opium is usually planted by the well-to-do, that around Soil, especially, having been planted by a rich local merchant.

Legitimate trade is much hindered by the soldiers searching for opium. In coming down the Yuan River from Shenchowfu to Changteh, our boat man was frequently called to the shore by these opium searchers. In each case a statement that we were a missionary family with an empty boat secured prompt release for us, but the other boats are often held up for hours. Between Changteh and Yochow city, our launch was held up four times while every passenger and his baggage was searched. Here too an exception was made of the missionary. All opium found was confiscated by the soldiers. I may say that this confiscated opium is not destroyed.

Another flourishing trade is that in slave girls. Although the missionaries in Shenchowfu are feeding the children of famine sufferers, many parents prefer to sell their girls into slavery in order to secure the ready cash. One whole boatload of these slave girls was sent to Hankow, while individual sales occur daily. The following incident will give some idea of the prices paid. On the boat with us from Changteh to Hankow was a Kiangsi woman who had a slave girl which she had purchased in Shenchowfu for ninety dollars, One of the opium searching parties secretly stole the girl, but offered to return her for fifty dollars. However, we have heard of both boys and girls who were sold as slaves for a few thousand cash.

There is every indication that the Spring crops will be good. The fact stands, however, that the Western Hunan district never does plant much wheat. Last autumn the Famine Relief Committee urged the farmers to increase their acreage, but the plan failed because no seed wheat was available. Therefore, while the wheat crop now being harvested will improve conditions slightly, it is by no means large enough to bring the needed relief.

Seed rice has been furnished by the Famine Relief Committees and sufficient rain has fallen to permit its sowing. However as the wells and ponds are still dry, the planting and raising of a crop of rice is not yet certain. Undoubtedly relief work must be continued until the rice crop is harvested in August.

Hunan may be a "Free and Independent Province of the Republic of China," but Western Hunan, at least, has no freedom. A number of the District Magistrates are good officials and have done all they can to aid in the famine relief. But they have no real authority. If any of them dare to attempt to interfere with the opium trade, they are laughed at by the soldiers. In Shenchowfu the Famine Relief Committees cleaned the streets and drains of the city in an attempt to prevent typhus and lessen cholera. The Police Magistrate issued a proclamation telling the people to refrain from throwing filth into these newly cleaned streets and drains. The soldiers laughed at him.

As Associate chairman of the Yuanling Famine Relief Committee I called the attention of the general commanding within the city wall to this state of affairs. At once promises of reform were made. But the filth is still emptied into the drains. Under such conditions the missionary hospital staff is quite unable to cope with the very severe form of cholera from which many people are dying. However, in other respects than the above, General Tsai has kept his troops in good order during the last winter, while the troops of General Chen, who has his headquarters in Paotsing (North River) are kept under strict discipline. General Chen has also greatly assisted in famine relief measures.

In at least some parts of Western Hunan the famine has brought a great opportunity to Christian workers. Our churches in Shenchowfu are crowded and overflow meetings are held every Sunday morning. Our preachers and evangelists are welcomed in the outlying villages, although every available church-member is engaged in famine relief work, yet we are doing all we possibly can to take advantage of the opportunity.

The writer did not hear anything about the anti-Christian movement before arriving in Changteh, and this movement had not gained any impetus in that city. Under present conditions it is not likely to make much headway in Western Hunan.

Of the non-Christian bodies we hear very little. Evidently these bodies are quiescent at present.

Several Roman Catholic priests from America have arrived in Shenchowfu and we hear rumors of large schools and hospitals to be built in the immediate future.

Tells Engineers Of "Power Factor"

Addressing the Engineering Society of China, Mr. F. S. Heys yesterday at the Royal Asiatic Society hall presented an interesting paper on "Power Factor." The paper, in part, follows:

"We usually think of electrical machinery as electrical only, and overlook the fact that magnetism is of as much importance as electricity in the operation of any electrical machine.

"(a) Generators.—The essential principle of an electric generator is that a magnet should rotate with respect to the coils in which the electric current flows. The magnet is excited by a current of electricity, usually obtained, in the case of a direct current generator, from its own armature—this being a 'Self Excited' generator—but an alternating current generator requires direct current for excitation. A usual means of obtaining this is to couple a small D.C. generator to the shaft of the alternator, but sometimes separately driven exciter units are installed. In large power stations if the latter alternative is adopted, the exciter sets form an important part of the plant, and their aggregate capacity may be equal to that of the whole power plant of a small town.

"(b) Motors and Transformers. Electric motors and Transformers also require magnetising. A direct current motor is excited in a similar manner to a direct current generator, but as there is no question of power factor in connection with direct current, the following is confined to alternating current systems.

TYPES OF MOTORS

"Alternating current motors may be divided into two main classes, synchronous and asynchronous, the latter being known generally as induction motors, and these again are of two types, slip ring and squirrel cage.

"The synchronous motor is practically an alternating current generator used to convert electrical energy into mechanical energy, and requires to be excited in the same manner as described above in connection with generators of this class. Incidentally it may be mentioned that the synchronous motor is not easily started up. If it is required to start against anything approaching or exceeding its full load torque very special means have to be adopted. Further, when running, it is liable to pull out of phase and come to a standstill if a big overload comes on.

"The asynochronous or induction motor obtains its magnetism from the alternating current supply, the current taken from the line being partly that necessary to do the work required of the motor, and partly that for magnetising it. The slip ring induction motor is started very easily and has very high 'pull out' torque.

'No matter what type of motor is used the magnetising current must be supplied from the power station, either directly if the motors are asynchronous or indirectly if synchronous.

"Transformers are magnetised in a similar way, by current taken directly from the line.

"It follows that the magnetic aspect of an electrical system is of small importance and a considerable proportion of the cost of the plant and of its operation is necessitated by the need for supplying current for the purpose of magnetising the generators and the motors and transformers connected to the system. As will be shown in more detail later, in general the worse the power factor of the system the greater is the magnetising current necessary, hence the greater is the cost of generating and distributing power.

CAUSES OF LOW POWER

"Low power factor is generally the result of the use of unsuitable motors. For ordinary purposes the induction motor is almost invariably adopted. This type of motor, taking magnetising current from the mains, cannot have unity power factor, but a well designed and suitably rated machine can come near enough to it. It is a mistake to instal an induction motor of greater H. P. rating than is actually needed, as the power factor, though it may be high at full load, rapidly gets worse as the load is reduced. The power factor of a 30 H.P. 1,440 r.p.m. motor would be about .88 at full load, but only .83 at three quarter load and .75 at half load. It would not, therefore, be good practice to instal a 30 H.P. motor if the load it had to deal with were only 20 H.P.

"On the other hand it is dangerous to aim at a high power factor at the expense of reliability. The main factor in determining the power factor of an induction motor is the running clearance between the 'rotor' and the 'stator.' In a 30 H.P. 1,440 r.p.m. motor, the 'air gap' should not be less than .03 inches radial.

"The power factor of a high speed motor is better than that of a slow speed machine. As already stated, the full load power factor of a 30 H.P. 1,440 r.p.m. motor would be about .88, but a 570 r.p.m. motor of the same rating would have a power factor of only .69 at full load, 56 at three quarter load, and .44 at half load.

EFFECTS OF LOW POWER

"The effect of a low power factor, whether lagging or leading, is, as has been shown, to increase the current necessity to do a certain amount of work. For every 100 amperes required at unity power factor, 125 ampers is required at .80 P.F. and 200 at .50.

"Although the extra current does not supply power it takes its full share of the current carrying capacity of the conductors and contributes its full share to the copper losses of the system. If a system is operating at say .70 power factor the current is nearly 50 percent more than it would be at unity power factor and all the conductors have to be increased in size to suit. Where a cable of 1. sq. in. section would suffice at unity power factor, a 1.5 sq. in. conductor would have to be used for .70 power factor, increasing by nearly 50 percent the capital cost of this part of the system, which is in any case a very big proportion of the total outlay when a wide area has to be covered.

"The heating effect of an electric current varies as the square of its value. Therefore the heating effect on the machines and transmission lines is about 2¼ times as much at .70 power factor than at unity, and at .60 power factor it is nearly three times as much.

"Not only this, but the rating of the generating plant and transformers is also increased by a power factor less than unity. To supply a load of 10,000 HP at unity power factor, would require generating and transforming plant of about 8,500 K.W. capacity, but at .70 power factor these would need to be rated at about 12,000 K.V.A., an increase of nearly 50 percent, with corresponding (not proportionate) increase in cost.

"Further, a lagging power factor has a bad effect on the operation of the plant, resulting in excessive loss of voltage with increase of load, not only due to the extra voltage drop on account of the greater current, but also because of its demagnetising effect on the generators, thereby necessitating larger auxiliary plant to supply the magnetising current and machines suitable for a higher voltage.

MEANS OF IMPROVING

"If the power factor of an existing system is bad, it may be improved by one or more of the following means:

(A) Re-arrangement of motors, if many of them usually run at appreciably less than their rated loads, so as to load as many as possible fully.

(B) The addition of synchronous machinery which may be run with leading power factor and so compensate for the lagging power factor of the induction motors.

(C) The use of the phase advancers with one or more of the induction motors.

(D) The use of static condensers.

SYNCHRONOUS INDUCTION

"In recent years a combination of the two types has been developed, and is known as the 'synchronous-induction' motor. A large number of these motors, ranging from 75 B.H.P. to 1,125 B.H.P. are at work in England.

"The design is similar in all respects to that of an ordinary induction motor, and the motor is started by a rotor resistance in the same simple manner. But after full speed is attained a direct current exciter is connected in circuit with one of the rotor leads, and the direct current used to supply the magnetisation of the machine.

"The question of power factor is one that concerns not only those responsible for the generation and distribution of electric power, but also the user, in that good power factor reduces the cost of power and improves the electrical characteristics of the supply.

"The selection of electrical equipment for a factory taking power from a central station gives rise to many problems which must be jointly settled by both parties, after consideration of the various factors involved, including that of Power Factor. It is desirable in the interests of all concerned that the most suitable plant should be installed in the first instance. A minimum expense is usually the primary object in view, but it will generally be found that the purchase of the best type of plant is ultimately the cheapest, although perhaps more expensive in first cost. It is in the mutual interest of the supplier and the user of electrical energy to ensure that a good Power Factor is maintained over the whole system."

Senawang Rubber Estates Meeting

The second annual general meeting of shareholders in the Senawang Rubber Estates, (1921) Limited, was held yesterday afternoon at the head office of the company, 10 Canton Road. Mr. G. Grayrigge pres'ded, supported by Mr. E. T. Byrne, Mr. A. K. Craddock (Directors) and Mr. C. J. L. Stewart, representing Messrs. J. A. Wattie and Company, Ltd., secretaries and general managers.

The chairman, in his speech to the shareholders, said:

"Gentlemen, No doubt you have all read the many company reports and speeches in the daily press and know of the present depression in the rubber industry. Taking that for granted, I do not propose to dwell on the subject, except to voice the hope that some form of compulsory restriction may soon be introduced by the Government concerned, for without such restriction I am afraid the present distressed conditon of the industry will go on indefinitely.

"Some people have the idea that the best solution of the difficulty is the survival of the fittest, but that to my mind is incorrect, for granted a company goes bankrupt, it does not follow that the property would go out of tapping. Such bankrupt estate would most likely be sold dirt cheap to some party or other, who would still continue to add to the present over production, thus the survival of the fittest theory is no solution of the difficulty the trade has got into, whereas restriction at least promises a quicker return to a paying basis than any other scheme of relief I have heard of.

"During the past fiscal period Senawang tapped on a conservative basis and at the present time with the exception of 397 acres on the daily quarter, the balance of our producing area, viz 690 acres, is tapped on the alternate day system, the greater part on a quarter cut. Bark consumption is being carefully watched and the standard of tapping is reported as good.

LOOKS FOR IMPROVEMENT

"The crop for the fiscal period was lbs. 106,500 produced at a cost of 12.05 pence per lb. F. O. B. A better showing is promised for the current year, viz 280,000 lbs. @ 30.67 cents F. O. B. or say at exchange 2-4.=10.85 pence per lb. Whilst a big step in the right direction, this figure these days is still on the high side, but I have hopes that as the year goes on some improvement on this forecast may be made. It must be remembered that the estate is just emerging from the serious setback caused through the attack of mouldy rot and that tapping in its former history was unduly severe, but I am of opinion we are now at the turning point and that when the days of prosperity return, this Company will again rank like its predecessor, as a good dividend payer.

"Our old enemy, mouldy rot, made a short reappearance on some 30 trees last year, but was quickly dealt with and today the estate is reported in good order.

"The work of our Estate manager, Mr. Ryves during a trying period is highly commended upon and in this connection, speaking as a director and shareholder, I would also voice the Board's appreciation of the administration of our Singapore Agents, Messrs. Barker & Co., Ltd., and our Secretaries and General Managers, Messrs. J. H. Wattie & Co., Ltd.

"I think there is nothing further of interest to tell you respecting the Estate, except perhaps to mention that all Buildings and Factory were well upkept, that cover plants have been introduced into some of the fields and that the cost of living is reported to have gone down considerably for all labor. Our estate difficulties are practically overcome and only remains now to await a higher selling price for our commodity to enable our undertaking to become profitable again. Labor shortages and labor surpluses seem recurrent and are points we always have to contend with.

LOSS IS Tls. 16,305.95

"The accounts before you show no outstanding items to comment upon in the way of capital or estate expenditure. Our overdraft figures are Tls. 30,155.95 which has since been somewhat increased.

"We have still, however, 95,765 ordinary shares and 66,057 12 percent cumulative preference shares of One Tael each unissued and I would urge shareholders especially those who have not subscribed their quota to the new capital to do so and help safeguard their present investment.

"The loss for the period under review amounts to Taels 16,305.95 which the Directors recommend be carried forward.

"Gentlemen, I hope next time we meet that we shall have a more cheerful report to talk of. I now beg to propose Resolution No. 1, viz.:

That the report of the directors and statement of accounts for the period ended January 31, 1922, as presented, be adopted and passed."

This was seconded by Mr. E. T. Bryne and passed.

The following resolutions were also passed:

That the appointment of Mr. G. Grayrigge as a director of the company be confirmed.

That Mr. A. K. Craddock be re-elected a director of the company.

That the directors shall be paid out of the funds of the company by way of remuneration for their services the sum of Tls. 1,500 per annum which sum shall be divided among them in such proportion and manner as the directors may determine.

That Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Matthews be re-elected auditors to the company.

PACIFIC COAST MEN, WELL-KNOWN HERE, MEET DEATH

J. R. Hanify And George Anderson Drowned While Yachting

(China Press Service)

Oakland, May 8.—The bodies of John R. Hanify and George Anderson were found entangled in the wreckage of their yacht which was destroyed last night.

Hanify was a wealthy lumberman of the Pacific Coast and Anderson was one of the crew on the private yacht Quarte. The foundering of the ship in heavy sea occurred at Hayward in San Francisco Bay.

The body of Christenson, a wealthy shipowner and member of the party, has not yet been found although a search has been instituted and they are dragging in the region of the accident.

The three men were aboard one of the six launches which were enrouto from San Mateo to San Francisco last night, when they struck a heavy storm. The other five launches came safely to shore.

News has been received by cable at Shanghai of the death at San Francisco, in a yachting accident of E. A. Christenson and J. R. Hanify, leading financiers and lumbermen of the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Christenson was head of the firm of Sudden and Christenson, which controls and operates: The Aberdeen Lumber and Shingle Co., and American Mill Co., of Aberdeen, Wash.; Hoquiam Lumber and Shingle Co., Hoquiam, Wash.; Prosper Mill Company, Prosper, Oregon; Siler Mill Co., and Raymond Lumber Co., Raymond, Wash.; Columbia Box and Lumber Co., South Bend, Wash.; Hulbert Mill Co., Aberdeen, Wash.; South Bend Shingle Co., South Bend, Wash. The firm also operates a fleet of ten coasting steamers.

Mr. Christenson has been identified in recent years with extensive overseas shipping development and was one of the promoters of the China Pacific Company and the Columbia Pacific Shipping Company, in which he was associated with C. E. Dant, of Portland, Oregon; Herbert Fleischhacker, of the Anglo London and Paris National Bank, at San Francisco; and Carl L. Seitz, of Shanghai.

He also was one of the principal owners of the Union Construction and Shipbuilding Company in San Francisco and controlled the Red Stack Tugboat Company, which operates in San Francisco Bay and along the Pacific Coast.

Mr. Hanify was a picturesque figure in the great development of the California Redwood territory and had extensive interests in sawmills on the Pacific Coast. He was a prominent yachtsman and a winner of some of the most important international challenge cup races.

Both gentlemen were leaders in Club life in San Francisco and as Directors and Trustees of the Olympic Club did much for the promotion of sportsmanship in San Francisco.

New Industries To Start In Szechuen

(Yih Chow Agency)

Chengtu, April 30.—Of late the industrial activities of Szechuen Province are worthy of notice. The steel plant which has been proposed for some time past, will be in operation in Chungking within a few months. For the exploitation of the natural resources of the province, many industrial firms have been organised at the different parts of the province.

Besides a comprehensive plan has just been formulated for the improvement of the Upper Yangtze Waterways in the province. It intends to minimise the danger of the river to its lowest possible degree. An official commission has been formed to discuss the ways and means for the execution of the plan.

It is expected by the people that as a result of the expansion of such undertakings, much soldier labor will be utilised, and a scheme will be formulated to bring about the disbanding of soldiers in the near future.

Germany's View On Reparations

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, May 8.—The German reading of the Reparations situation was presented today by the Minister of Defence, Dr. Gessler, in a speech at Hamburg.

He said that by carrying out and fulfilling her obligations up to the present Germany had gained time and made her enemies realise the impossibility of complete fulfillment.

He anticipated that if France were now to proceed alone against Germany, Britain and the other states would not prevent her, but would refuse all support.

Bishop Of Rheims Obtains Big Loan

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 8.—The Archbishop of Rheims announces the success of a loan of 200,000,000 francs for the reconstruction and restoration of French churches devastated during the war.

The Pope has sent 50,000 francs, expressing deep satisfaction at the generous response.

Road Survey In Szechuen Proceeds

(Yih Chow Agency)

Chungking, April 30.—Since the establishment of the Bureau of provincial highways many remarkable achievements have been made. The provincial government has recently contracted with the Asia Development Corporation which sent two foreign highway construction engineers from Shanghai. After making a short stay at Chungking, the engineers proceeded to survey the Chungking-Chengtu road, which is to be constructed as soon as the survey is completed. There are several other main roads being projected; and a preliminary survey on these roads too has been arranged.

Citizens express the view that it is gratifying to note the provincial authorities are sparing no effort to develop communication facilities in the province to their fullest possible extent.

Notwithstanding the obstacles which have been impeding educational growth in the province for the past decade, the concurrent civil governor, General Liu Hsian, has succeeded in making the funds hitherto appropriated for educational purposes, independent of the influence of the present military administration, so as to avoid further misappropriations as in the past.

The aggregate amount of the fund is a little less than $200,000 which the new scheme entrusts to a special educational commissioner, who shall be a man of good reputation and of resource so that no unscrupulous persons may be allowed to exploit the funds used for so noble an enterprise.
